

NJacts
4us!

REGISTER NOW

go.rutgers.edu/x9uzjl26

INTERPRETERS IN HEALTHCARE:

NAVIGATING LANGUAGE FOR BETTER OUTCOMES

In an increasingly diverse world, understanding and accommodating the needs of multilingual populations in healthcare settings is paramount. This presentation will address the legal framework and challenges related to providing language-discordant care, focusing on the role of interpreters.

Participants will be able to identify and implement effective communication techniques to foster clear, culturally sensitive, and patient-centered interactions when working with interpreters.

Q&A and networking will follow the 45-min presentation.

Presentation topics include:

- Healthcare in Multilingual Settings: Outcomes & Barriers
- Legal & Policy Frameworks
- Roles & Limits: Clinicians vs. Interpreters
- Communication Strategies for Effective Collaboration
- Ethical Standards
- Case Study Analysis

MAY 28TH, 2025

10 am - 12 pm

303 George St, New Brunswick NJ
(Virtual participation available)

Check-in begins at 9:30 am

Light refreshments will be provided

Laura Ramírez, Ph.D.

Associate Teaching Professor
Coordinator of the Translation &
Interpreting Program